

ATRIUM FAMILY WAITING AREA

Ohio State University Medical Center Atrium is located on the fifth floor of Rhodes Hall. It is a waiting and information area for family members and visitors of patients who are in surgery or receiving other services.

Guests can receive updates on the status of surgery patients from Atrium volunteers or via OR Link. OR Link is a computerized tracking system that shows when patients move from one area to another; for example, from the operating room to the recovery room, Atrium volunteers will explain how to track patients on the OR Link monitors located in the Atrium, Doctors and other medical personnel may also contact guests to provide updates while they are in the Atrium.

Volunteers are available to assist guests during scheduled surgery hours on weekdays. After hours and on weekends, hospital administrative managers are available to answer guest questions. Guests should dial 3-8300 from a Medical Center phone and ask for the hospital administrative manager.
